SEASON OPENS TONIGHT.

Improvements That Have Been Made at the Lyceum and the Academy of Music. The amusement season at the Lyceum will open tonight with the production of "The Purple Lady." A number of improvements are being made by the owners of the house, through the courtesy of H. H. Wells, which will make the place more attractive than ever. They will not be completed for several weeks to come. Yesterday a force of men were at work painting and frescoing the long entrance through the Arcade and other workmen were painting and papering the quarters of the manager and treasurer on the right of the entrance to the theater. The theater has received a thorough cleaning and dusting and new carpets of a cheerful color have been ordered, but will not be received for several weeks. The coloring in the interior of the house is being retouched and freshened. A new set of stage furniture has been ordered by the owners of the house, which will make the Lyceum one of the best equipped theaters in the country. In the matter of scenery there are few houses in the country that are the equals of the Lyceum. The Academy of Music has been renovated and brightened during the summer and when the house opens Monday afternoon everything will be in the best class shape. The entrance and lobby of the house have been covered with a cork carpet which is neat, clean and wonderful as a destroyer of the noise made by persons entering and leaving the theater.

THE SIGNS CAME DOWN.

Merchants Who Ignored Notice Are Brought to Time. A crusade against overhanging signs has been instituted by Mayor Moir. Some time ago he instructed Street Commissioner O'Boyle to serve notice on every merchant displaying a sign that reached beyond the ten-foot restriction to remove the same at once. There was a general compliance with the order but several either neglected or ignored it, and yesterday the mayor sent an officer to notify them to take down the signs forthwith or suffer arrest. The signs came down, instantaneously.

JURY CENSURED MR. AND MRS. REIBER

DID NOT GIVE THEIR DAUGHTER PROPER ATTENTION.

The Coroner's Post Mortem Showed That the Child Died from Starvation Because It Did Not Receive the Kind of Food Her Condition Required—Verdict of the Jurors Was in Accordance with the Facts Presented to Them for Consideration.

An inquest was held at the court house last night in the case of Margaret Reiber, the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Reiber, of Grace street, North Scranton, who died on Friday, Aug. 25.

The jurors were W. D. Davis, Gwilym Williams, Frank J. Foster, E. J. Moran, Edward Morgan and Morgan Morgan and they found that the child's death was due to the neglect of the parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Reiber are believers in the ideas advanced by the Christian Alliance and when their child became ill with some infantile trouble they offered up prayers and had the deacons of the church do likewise. The child grew worse and finally died and the coroner's post mortem showed that death was due to starvation, the child not having received the nourishment her condition required and which any competent physician would have prescribed if called to attend the child.

INJUNCTION GRANTED.

Scranton Railway Company Asks the Court to Protect It from the Interference of the City.

Papers in the injunction proceedings of the Scranton Railway Company against the city of Scranton, were completed yesterday and in the afternoon ex-Judge H. A. Knapp visited Judge F. W. Gunster at his summer home at Lake Ariel and secured a rule for a writ of injunction to restrain the city from interfering with the work of completing the Nay Aug park loop.

This morning the papers will be filed with Prothonotary Copeland and the injunction issued and placed in the hands of the sheriff.

Yesterday morning Mayor Moir sent to General Manager Silliman a copy of the resolution directing the mayor to prevent the laying of tracks and running of cars and to compel the company to remove the tracks already laid and the rails in the condition in which it found them.

Whether or not the notice reached General Manager Silliman could not be learned, as he went out of town when a Tribune reporter called at the company's office yesterday afternoon. If he did receive it, he paid no heed to it, for the cars on the Mulberry street arm of the extension continued to run all day.

Mayor Moir, when apprised of the fact that the cars were still running after the injunction, immediately sent officers to the scene today to see that no cars were run.

CONVENTION OF MAYORS.

It is to Be Held Next Month in Williamsport.

It is proposed to hold a convention of the mayors of Pennsylvania, cities of the third class in Williamsport some time next month, to formulate legislation that will assist them in their appointive powers. In Reading, Harrisburg, Erie, Scranton and several other cities commissioners and several other cities commissioners have been attempting to secure the executive rights as appointive powers, and to obviate future questions as to who has authority in the premises the mayors have decided to take some sort of action.

At Harrisburg councils turned down a number of Mayor Fritchey's appointments and he carried the matter into court. The court of Dauphin county sustained him in his claim of prerogative in the removal of subordinate officers, including the police force, and select council was compelled to abandon its fight to rule in this matter. The same contention as to jurisdiction arose in the other cities.

The much-controverted piece of legislation in dispute is section 6 of the act of 1889, dealing with the filling of appointive municipal officers. This section reads: "The mayor shall nominate and, by and with the advice and consent of the select council, appoint subordinate officers of the city whose offices are created by ordinance, excepting the city clerk and the clerks of the different branches of councils, and he may remove from office."

HE CREATED A SENSATION.

Frank Courtright Made a Bluff at Committing Suicide.

Frank Courtright, a brother of a special officer Harry Courtright, was the cause of a great deal of excitement on Penn avenue last night. He became slightly under the influence of drink in the early part of the evening and entered a saloon on Penn avenue and after indulging in a few drinks he turned around and told the bystanders that he was about to leave this cold, hard world. He bade them an affectionate farewell and left the place.

One of those present followed him into the White House for the purpose of watching developments. Courtright walked to the end of the bar, called for a glass of water and with a melodramatic flourish poured the contents of a small vial into the liquid and drained it off.

Doctors, etc., etc. Great flourish and a great deal of commotion with clanging bells and two surgeons.

Courtright was bundled into the ambulance, hurried to the hospital and laid upon a table. A stomach pump was brought into operation. When the ordeal was over the victim looked up and said: "Mach, Doc, what I took wasn't anything stronger than water." He was discharged by the physicians and was around town all night uttering invectives against the stomach pump that robbed him of a jag which he said cost him 95 cents.

RUNAWAY ON VINE STREET.

Two Women Thrown from a Carriage and Injured.

What came very near being a fatal runaway accident occurred last evening about 11 o'clock on Vine street, between Adams and Jefferson avenues. The horse took fright in the block boys and came down the street at a gallop and collided with a tree about the middle of the block, throwing both ladies out and wrecking the buggy beyond repair.

They were fortunately only slightly bruised and were able to go to their homes unassisted. The horse was stopped a couple of blocks away by a pedestrian.

THEY WERE OFFERED IN EVIDENCE AGAINST HER.

It Was Alleged That She Stole Them from the Jury Did Not Believe the Story—Witnesses Examined in the Langstaff Contest—Jordan Who Is Charged with Bobbery Admitted to Bail—Case of Healey Against the City Heard Before Referee Vidaver.

Mrs. H. W. Williams, of West Scranton, who was tried on several charges of shoplifting over a year ago, but was not convicted, was a caller at the clerks of the courts' office yesterday. At the time of her arrest two volumes of Eugene Sue's novel, "The Wandering Jew," were found in her home and Bookman Beldeman alleged that they had been stolen from his store. They were taken possession of by the police and when the case came up for trial passed into the hands of Clerk of the Courts Daniels with other files in the case.

Yesterday Mrs. Williams called on the clerk and demanded the two volumes of "The Wandering Jew" which had been offered in evidence against her, but failed to secure her conviction.

As she did not have an order from the proper county official for the books Clerk Daniels was compelled to refuse to turn the books over to her.

Mayor Wants City Property.

At the instance of Mayor Moir actions in replevin were yesterday begun against Stephen Dyer and James Saul, recently removed from the positions of patrolmen by the mayor. The object of the actions is to recover the clubs, belts, badges, revolvers, bunch of keys and hipper, property of the city, now held by the officers, who believe they have not been legally removed from office as yet and who therefore refuse to give up possession of the property. They can give a bond and retain possession of the goods until the court passes upon the matter if they desire to take such a course.

Mayor Moir said to a Tribune reporter yesterday afternoon that he did not direct this action with a view of prejudicing the case of Messrs. Saul and Dyer, if they have one, but simply to secure the city property for which there is an absolute need.

Municipal Liens Revived.

City Solicitor R. D. Stuart, of Carbonate, yesterday revived municipal liens against the following property owners of Carbonate on assessments for public improvement: W. T. Big Batch of Transcripts.

On Sept. 11 the grand jury for the October sessions will meet. Already over 200 transcripts have been filed by patrolmen and justices of the peace with Clerk of the Courts Daniels.

Usually about 900 transcripts await the action of the grand jury that meets in September and this year promises to be a record breaker.

Ulavitch Wants His Release.

Attorney M. L. Ruddy, who represents George Ulavitch yesterday applied to Judge H. M. Edwards for a writ of habeas corpus which was granted and made returning Saturday morning at 10 o'clock. He was committed by Justice of the Peace W. J. Williams, of Carbonate township, who has won much local renown as a poet and as a potent factor in causing the recent upheaval of the Delaware and Hudson company, of which he is a stockholder. Ulavitch is charged with having criminally assaulted the wife of John Jersek. All of the parties reside in Carbonate township and are neighbors.

SCHANK & SPENCER 410 Spruce Street.

hous. A copy of the commitment which is on file with the application for the writ, created much amusement in the court house yesterday. It is so peculiarly drawn that on first reading it would appear to charge Ulavitch with having assaulted his own wife. The accused states that the prosecution was trumped up for purposes of revenge.

Location of Swetland Street.

Before Referee Nathan Vidaver yesterday there was a hearing in the case of Dominick Healey against the city of Scranton. Healey owns a lot at Ninth and Swetland streets and some time ago erected a fence on what he alleges is the line of his property. The city maintains that the fence was on Swetland street and had it torn down.

Again the fence went up and again it was torn down and then Healey gave up the attempt of keeping the fence in place and brought suit to recover from the city the value of the land claimed by him, which he alleges is being unlawfully used by the city for street purposes.

The case, so far as the evidence for Healey is concerned, was closed yesterday afternoon and then an adjournment was taken until next Wednesday at 2 o'clock. Attorney I. H. Burns appears for Healey and City Solicitor Vosburg for the city.

Suit Over Water Rent.

Before Arbitrators L. P. Wedeman, Byron Ackerly and T. P. Hoban, the case of Brown against Moore & Shipman, was heard yesterday in the arbitration room. The plaintiff was represented by Attorneys I. H. Burns and C. H. Picher and the defendants by E. H. Shurliff.

Brown erected a building in West Scranton which was rented by Moore & Shipman butchers. It is alleged by the plaintiff that in addition to the rent of the building the defendants agreed to pay the water rent, but that statement is denied by the defendants. When three years' water rent, amounting to about $300, was due Brown had a landlord's warrant issued and levied on the goods of Moore & Shipman. The latter secured a writ of replevin and the matter now comes up for disposition before arbitrators. The evidence was all put in yesterday and the arguments will be heard at a later day.
